To Kate Field

.227 Wilmot Ave., Chicago. The writer wrote to Mr. Garnsey inquiring whether an association had been organized to raise money to remove the John Brown Fort to Harper's Ferry. Says he tried to find out how the people of Harper's Ferry felt about the project. Quotes a letter from the mayor of Harper's Ferry saying a site had been procured on Bolivar Heights. Says that the B. & O. R.R. will move the Fort free of charge. Mr. Garnsey says that the present owner would donate the Fort. Thinks money to erect the Fort can be raised in Chicago.

To William Lloyd Garrison

.Jacksonville, (~~Fla.~~ Ill.). The ideas of W.L.G., the Liberator and the American Colonization Society have been discussed in the writer's community at length. Doubts if the colonization scheme would benefit either negroes or whites. Disapproves of emancipating the slaves without protecting them in some way. They and the community in which they live must be elevated together. Part of the western territories should be assigned to them. Cites the progress of the immigrants in Illinois. Claims that the negroes cannot "be elevated where they are."

To Mrs. Maria (Weston) Chapman

«Cambridge, Indiana» The writer wants to make his position clear in regard to the incident at Syracuse. Conflicting notices were given of a "property convention" and of an anti-slavery meeting for the same afternoon. The next day, before adjournment of the morning session, the writer announced the afternoon anti-slavery meeting, whereupon John A. Collins announced a property meeting, and made a speech, referring to the "bigotry and narrowmindedness of abolitionists," etc. Charles L. Remond replied, expressing "the belief that the Board of Managers could not sanction him (Collins) as their general agent." Then Collins read documents complimentary to himself, and presented four p[illegible]itions, which the writer quotes, to the effect that th[illegible]niversal reform movement will benefit the slave more than the anti-slavery movement alone. In the afternoon the writer at the meeting posed the question "whether it was just or honorable for Mr. Collins to labor in the one «cause» for the distruction «sic» of the other," and closed by saying that if the Board sanctioned Mr. Collins's course, the writer felt it his duty to resign his agency for carrying out the plan of the hundred conventions. In a postscript the writer asks the addressee to provide his wife with $25 or $30.

‹La Porte, (Ind.)› Went on a sightseeing tour of Adrian with Dr. E. H. Owen and others. Left there for Hillsdale, where Pres. Fairfield of the local college invited him to stay at his home, which W.L.G. declined to do. Lectured to the students. Left Hillsdale for La Porte, where he was shown the town and the surrounding countryside from the cupola of a new school. Enjoyed the Indian summer weather. Spoke for two hours to a good audience. Complains of hoarseness and fatigue. Gives instructions about the money he expects to send home. "How generous and opportune was our friend M. G. Chapman's gift to Fanny!" Is going to Chicago.
A.L.s. 6 p. 8 x 5 in.

Newspaper clipping included. Addressed to "Dear Wife," written in pencil, and signed with initials.

[New Harmony, Ind.] Has received the letters sent to Madam and to himself. Had feared that they could not pass through Vera Cruz because of Santa Anna. The difficulty of ordering books by titles has delayed her. Achilles induced him to sell out the store to Kellogg. Relates his difficulties with the tenants and gives prices of real estate in New Harmony, the problem of hiring help in the home, etc. Lyman is the only e̊graver: hopes to get David Owen. Gives news of the publication of books on natural history and of friends in the field. A.L.S. 4p. 10 x 8 in.

To Whom?

«Lawrence, K.T. (Kansas Terr.)» A letter about the escape of fugitive slaves from Missouri to Kansas. "We heard yesterday that 'Old John Brown' has taken a considerable number from the house of bondage ... The immediate occasion of this stampede (sudden increase in the number of slaves seeking to escape) is the report among the slaves that great sales were being made down South ... Indeed we know that hundreds have been bought up & sent off ..." The writer appeals for money.

❬Bangor, (Me.)❭ "And blessed be the God of mercy and truth, who has made you willing and able to perform the Great work of righteousness, which he has given you to do." Is much pleased by the conversion of J. G. Birney to the Anti-Slavery cause. Thinks that there has been "an increase of zeal" in favor of the Anti-Slavery cause in Bangor.

To William Lloyd Garrison No.61

.Bangor, (Me.). Has been waiting for his brother to return from the South. Is preparing an address on "the liberty which belongs to the children of God. I have endeavored to show that the nominal church and the institution of human governments stand directly in the way of this liberty." Favors "abolition of the anti-Christian church, and all other anti-Christian institutions ..." E. P. delivered his address to a small audience in Bangor recently. Notes that very few Abolitionists regard human governments as obstacles to freedom.

To Anne Warren Weston No.19

[Bangor, Me.] M. A. Bright asked the writer to circulate the Liberators sent by the Boston Female Anti-Slavery Society. Has been unexpectedly successful in getting the Liberator into the hands of those ignorant of it and unacquainted with it. Friends of the cause will prefer to support their own paper rather than the Liberator. Wants a pamphlet giving the reasons "which induced the students of Lane Seminary to dissolve their connection with that institution." The Anti-Slavery societies of Maine are increasing in number and interest. The writer hopes to meet Garrison.

«Bath, Maine» "The Directors of the Salem (Ohio) Bazaar were not a little surprised ... at your letter, inquiring with some particularity what use would be made of the money, if a box of goods should be forwarded for their disposal." Explains that Mr. & Mrs. S. S. Foster had founded the Salem society. The Anti-Slavery Bugle was "most emphatically the 'first-born' of Mrs. Foster." The first permanent editors were Mr. & Mrs. B. S. Jones, succeeded by Oliver Johnson and then by Marius R. Robinson, "a person of much more intellectual culture" than his predecessors and "whose fidelity to our extremist doctrines, no one questions who knows him." Names the agents of Western Society, including [illegible]lf. In a letter to the writer the Directors of the Salem Fair, surprised that the only result of the winter's negotiations was the addressee's inquiry if the proceeds would be properly appropriated, added: "and fearing that they would not, the box was withheld." They also complained that the addressee had sent the Cincinnati Anti-Slavery Circle a box worth $150, remarking that "this is given to a mongrel concern, who lack very much of being called Garrisonians." The writer regrets that the American or Massachusetts Society did not vote to send a delegate to the Cincinnati Convention.

To Mrs. Maria (Weston) Chapman

«Kennebunk, Maine» The writer gives expression to her religious faith. Complains of the people who have "cruel thoughts in their hearts and call them thoughts of mercy." Wishes that "a true preacher of righteousness" would come to Saco and Kennebunk. The writer planned to attend the Christmas fair in Boston, but was prevented by the death of a brother. Hopes to meet Mrs. Lydia Maria Child, "for I think she preaches the true gospel." Encloses money for the anti-slavery cause from her sister Hannah and herself. Regrets that the Non-Resistant has stopped.

«Kennebunk, Maine» A reply to an earlier letter, signed by the addressee and others, urging a meeting to consider means to increase the circulation of the Liberator. The writer, after trying hard to get people to read the Liberator, found only two willing to take it gratis compared to thirteen the year before. People think that "Garrison is an infidel, and Quincy a blasphemer."

«Kennebunk, Maine» The writer encloses contributions from herself and her sister Hannah for the Christmas fair. While honoring the addressee's devotion to liberty and her non-resistant doctrine, the writer does not believe "that you have laid the ax to the root of the tree; yet." There follows an expression of the writer's religious ideas on salvation and on the nature of marriage.
